COVID-19 OUTBREAK

With Covid-2019 now at the stage of pandemic, NUVISAN has taken strict measures as per its social and business responsibilities. As of today the peak of the outbreak seems not to have been reached and we shall take all precautions to contain and protect, in all aspects.

First and foremost, the general public health, the ones of our employees, partners and visitors is our major focus and as an active player in the health industry NUVISAN has taken strong measures for containment and safety of all:

Viral spread containment:

- Stricter access controls (incl. questionnaire). No public and visitors allowed in our facilities unless business critical.
- Employees required to follow strictly government and local recommendations as to their transportation and interpersonal contact.
- No personal contact with non-staff upon material delivery and only the strict necessary materials considered.
- Minimum surface contact: open doors policy whenever possible
- Disinfection policy on sites (door handles, tables and chairs) on a regular basis and after each room use.
- Disinfectant and masks available to all employees.
- Temperature tests kits are available for all employees and collaborators.
- Shared areas in surrounding of workplace reserved strictly to NUVISAN employees (Germany).

How this translates to the way we function:

- Business trip cancelled until further notice unless strictly business-critical.
- Home office recommended whenever possible.
- Face to face Business meetings reduced to their minimum.
- Reinforcement of communication around strict protective measures and hygiene regulations for all employees.
- Cancellation of events and congresses.

You can of course reach out to us as per the usual means, nothing changes.

The ability of our laboratories to deliver is not affected by the situation in any way as of today. For our ongoing partners, if that was to impact our functioning we will immediately have you informed.

We will continue posting on our website as to how the situation unfolds and what additional measures are requested in full transparency.
